

WCB Disability Management Practices and Leveraging Technology

Agenda

- Disability Management Best Practices
 - Return to work/modified work
- Leveraging Technology
 - Employer Fit For Work Dashboard
- Questions

Principles and key features of WCB

- No-fault coverage
- Protection from lawsuit
- Benefit of doubt to worker
- Right of review and appeal
- Exclusive jurisdiction, legislatively based and guided
- Supporting Albertans in a safe and healthy recovery from workplace injuries and illnesses

Disability Management

Being proactive makes the difference

- Do you educate your staff on what they need to do if they get injured?
- Do the right people know what their role is when they are informed of an injury?
 - Supervisor, manager, receptionist, dispatcher, co-worker?
- Do you have injury packages for your staff?

Supervisor information package

- Checklist for supervisor
 - Outlines all the steps they need to complete after an injury
- First aid record
- WCB Employer Report of Injury or Occupational Disease (form CO40)
- Information about Occupational Injury Services (OIS) clinics.
- Modified duty task list
- Offer of temporary modified work
- Notification of change in circumstances

Worker information package

- Checklist for worker
 - Outlines all the steps they need to complete after an injury
- Current Worker Report of Injury or Occupational Disease (form CO60)
- Physical demands analysis
- Fitness for work form to provide to medical practitioner
- Modified duty task list
- OIS wallet card

Benefits of a return-to-work program

Having a robust return-to-work program with modified-work options is mutually beneficial for both you and your workers.

What are modified duties

- Changes in job tasks or functions (e.g., less lifting, or bending)
- Changes in workload (e.g., hours worked per day or the work schedule)
- Alterations to the work area and environment (e.g., work in the office, shop or front counter) or the equipment used
- Work normally performed by others (e.g., administrative work)
- Cross training or job shadowing
- Online training
- Work that needs to be done but you currently do not have an employee assigned to complete the work
- Transitional duties that support a gradual return to work

How you benefit ...

- You retain an experienced worker and reduce additional hiring or training costs.
- You decrease your worker's time away from work and reduce costs associated with claims.
- You strengthen employee relations by showing an injury doesn't threaten job security, and boost worker morale. You create a culture that says we will be there for you if you get injured.

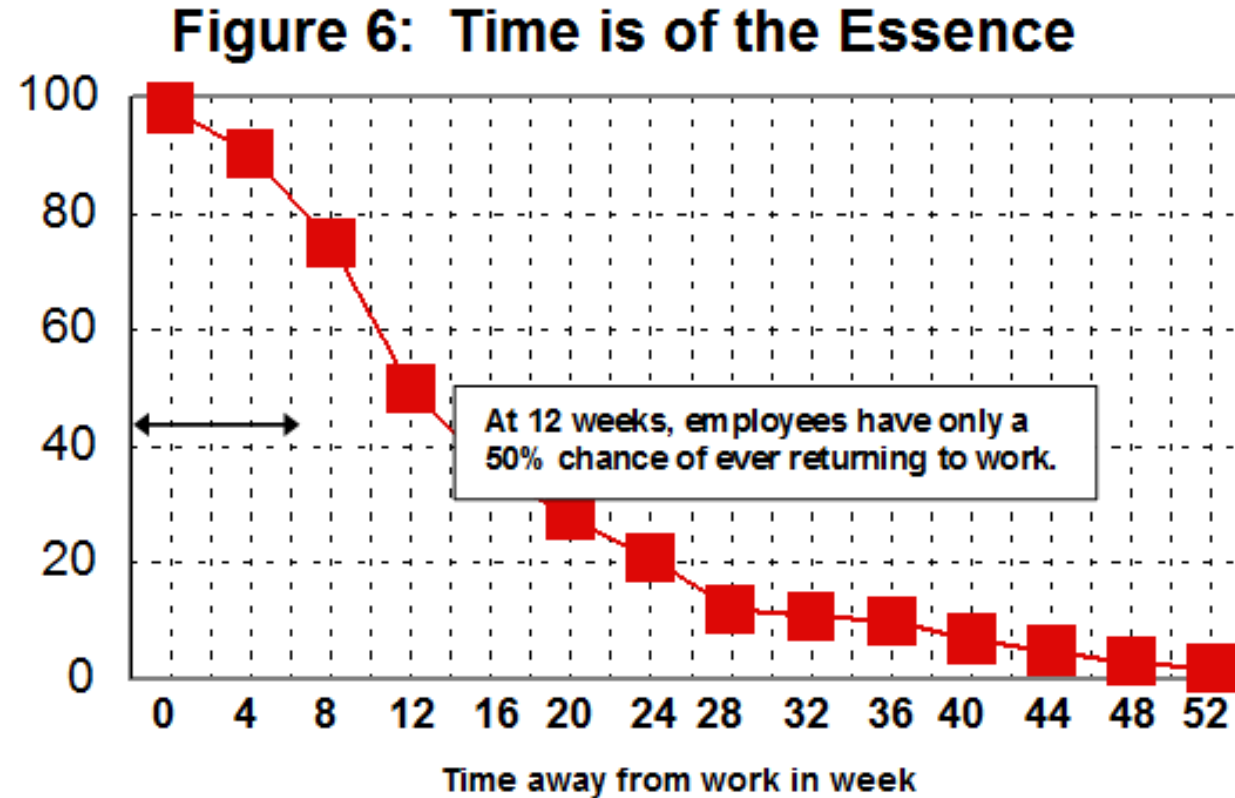

How your workers benefit ...

Modified work helps your worker return to employment while recovering and provides them the opportunity to continue contributing to your workplace.

Through modified work, your worker will gain:

- Independence and remain self-sufficient
- Income and job security (they know they have a job to return to and do not have to look for another job)
- A sense of belonging (to your company and co-workers)
- A better recovery

Reducing disability days

Source: Jennifer Christian, "Reducing Disability Days: Healing More than the Injury,"
The Journal of Workers Compensation, Vol. 9, No. 2 (Winter 2000), p. 51.

Modified work can make a difference!

	Company A	Company B
Assessable earnings	$6M	$5.5M
Lost time claim volume (2019 – 2021)	10	25
Lost time days (2019 - 2021)	154	710
Experience rating adjustment	-18.36%	40%
Poor Performance Surcharge	0	99.52%
Total employer rate adjustment	-18.36%	139.52%
Premiums to be paid in 2023	$93,125	$250,250

Putting it all together

Why does disability management matter?

Organizational and industry culture – focusing on return to work /modified provides you with an opportunity to drive home the message that when you're injured, we have your back.

Modified work is the one key “deductible” you have that helps build your safety culture and reduce your claim costs

Claim costs drive your rate – good disability management will save you money and allow you to retain valuable industry talent.

Technology and the Fit for Work Dashboard

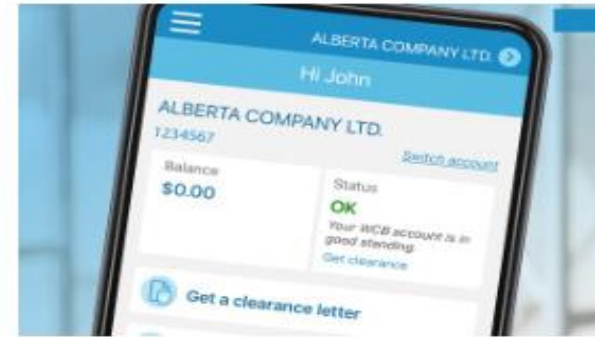

Manage your WCB account with the myWCB mobile app for employers.

With the myWCB app, you can:

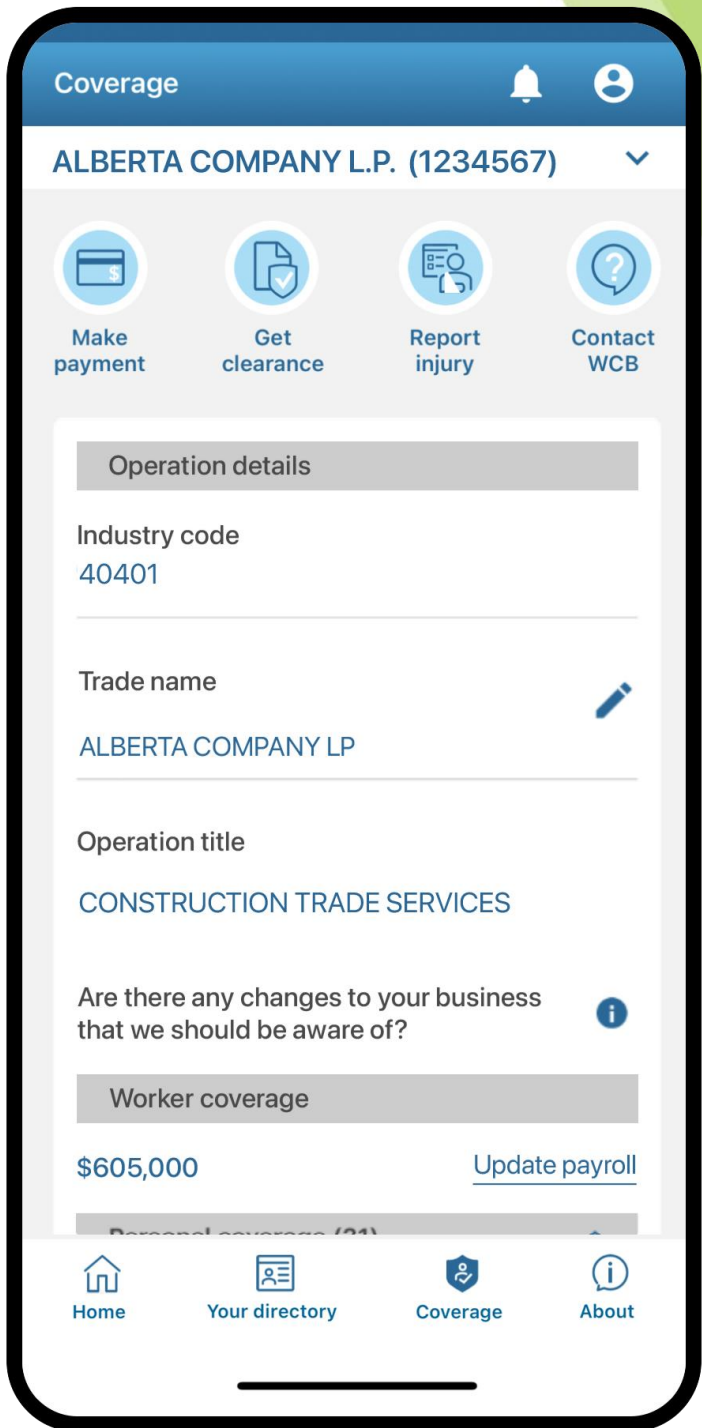

- Get better return-to-work outcomes with claim notifications when one of your workers reports an injury.
- Request real-time clearance letters on an account. View your account's status and your recent clearance requests.
- Check the balance on your account, make payments, update payroll, and change to a monthly payment installment plan by signing up for pre-authorized debit.
- Report an injury where and when it's convenient for you, and connect with modified work resources.
- Connect with us directly, by sending a message or requesting a phone call.

...all through your phone.

Download the app to get started today. Now available in Google Play and the App Store.
